HAZARDOUS MATERIALS REGULATIONS BOARD
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20590

25024

[Docket No. HM-102; Amdt. No. 173-78A]

PART 173—SHIPPERS

Flammable, Combustible, and Pyrophoric
Liquids; Definitions

On May 22, 1975, the Hazardous Materials Regulations Board published Amendment No. 173-78A under Docket No. HM-102 in the FEDERAL REGISTER (40 FR 22263). In the "Effective date" paragraph it was stated that the effective date of the amendment was January 1, 1976. It was the Board's intention that all amendments made under Docket HM-102, including those published on January 24, 1974 (39 FR 2768) in addition to Amendment 173-78A be also extended to January 1, 1976. Therefore, the next to last paragraph of FEDERAL REGISTER Document 75-13500 is revised to read as follows:

Effective date: This amendment, and amendments 172-23, 173-78 (except as revised by this amendment), 174-19, and 177-29 are effective January 1, 1976. However, immediate compliance with the regulations, as amended under this Docket, is authorized except as they pertain to the placarding of tank cars containing combustible liquids.

Issued in Washington, D.C. on June 6, 1975.

ALAN I. ROBERTS,
Secretary,
Hazardous Materials Regulations Board.
